

Workshop: Developing Phonics and Word Knowledge with SPELL SIGNS.

Melbourne University, Hawthorn Campus, September 2018

Spell Signs
Visuals for Literacy

SPELL SIGNS is a set of gestures and written markings used in the teaching of reading and writing (specifically Word Study and Phonics). SPELL SIGNS can be used alone or work in well with any literacy program.

The system promotes a student's grasp of phonics, promotes word exploration and also increases the understanding of the concepts used in literacy teaching (digraph, rime, long/short vowel, blend and so on). The system is particularly beneficial for students at risk of reading or spelling difficulties and for those with language delays. SPELL SIGNS make the language of literacy VISUAL.

A great aside to learning SPELL SIGNS is that teachers and speech pathologists report an increase in their own understanding of phonics, phonological awareness, orthography and morphology. This is so important! Research tells us that explicit decoding instruction is only effective when the teacher's knowledge in such areas is well developed. (Piasta, Connor, Fishman and Morrison 2009).

By the end of the workshop, participants will be able to:

- 1) use all of the 20 Spell Signs gestures in teaching and for feedback
- 2) use the Spell Signs written templates, flashcards and wordlists
- 3) "mark up" written words for teaching and for student feedback
- 4) explain three common spelling conventions using Spell Signs gestures and symbols
- 5) share the knowledge of Spell Signs with colleagues

Participants receive the SPELL SIGNS resource as part of their training.
